Executive Summary

Tsehafe Gojjo is a creative team of documentaries, product designers, and content creators. We document buildings, heritage and modern, and crate informative and entertaining content curated for our audience. Building upon previous works, we are working to integrate additional visual media and content production to engage with our audience.

Tsehafe Gojjo translates as one who writes about houses. Our team is comprised of five members from different disciplines of the creative industry is joined by a common call; conserving and harnessing heritage. An architect, two photographers, a Graphic Designer and Web developer came together in Tsehafe Gojjo for the aim of innovative digital content. To address the fading value of heritages, have in our community, we work intending to collect data, archive information, and communicate the knowledge.

We create digital content by using our various skills at our disposal and collaborating with other professionals who have the knowledge, experience, and resources.

Vision

Our vision to enhance our documentation culture. It's to carry the same concept of architectural documented catalog yet applying it in digital and printed platforms by researching and organizing documents. In addition to this we aim to become the hub of Architectural Documentation.

Mission

To glorify and documenting hidden, neglected and preserved historical building.
To recreating the past moment and the way of living that connect the past with the present.
To pass well documented architectural knowledge
